HOAGLAND'S NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING! W. E. COOPER HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive Carriage Factory, Corner of Second and Morrison Streets. He respectfully refers to the following CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used. It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure. It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

Railroads and Party Politics

If people at a distance should chance to read the Democratic papers of Oregon supposing that any of these poor specimens of journalism of limited circulation ever go abroad, they would probably conclude at once that no railroad was in process of construction in our State. They would see it stated that the frequent advertisements that appear for laborers for railroad work were merely shams put forth for the purpose of collecting men together for a few weeks who would all be discharged after the election and the inference at once would be that there was no intention of building any railroad. The whole Democratic press is doing its best to inculcate this idea. In fact many of the party would prefer that no railroads should be built. For they see in the construction of railroads a new era for the State increased activity in business an influx of intelligent population and a whole train of influences fatal to Democratic majorities. Hence one of the most prominent of the party managers said not long ago he would prefer that Oregon should never have a railroad rather than that his party should be defeated in this election.

If the work that is being done on the Oregon and California railroad, together with the vast preparations that are to be seen for its continued prosecution, is not evidence enough that this enterprise is actually under way it would be difficult to conjecture what further proofs would suffice. Nearly five hundred men are now employed in connection with it and many more are wanted. They are wanted for active labor in permanent situations. A very great amount of work is to be done on the road this year. The purpose is to complete it by the close of the year to a point one hundred miles south of Portland. Whether this purpose will be fully accomplished or not is simply a question of labor. Upon the obtainment of a sufficient number of laborers the solution of the problem depends. We are informed by the Superintendent that no good active working man will be refused a place or turned away, either before or after the election. The railroad is a fixed fact. Work will be prosecuted upon it with as much vigor after the election as before it, and with even more vigor if more laborers can be obtained. The idea that the prosecution of a great enterprise like this, involving an outlay of millions of dollars, is to be governed or regulated, started up or stopped, merely to suit the convenience of any political party or to serve any party purpose, is supremely ridiculous. Not less than a million dollars has already been expended on this enterprise, yet this outlay of money can yield no return until the road is extended well up the valley. Is it to be supposed that the capitalist who is building it desires to lock up his resources and render them unavailable and unproductive? As a business man he must push forward with all speed, so that his road may begin to earn something.

It is well known that there are abundant resources for pushing on the work. Not long ago it was stated in our telegraphic dispatches that the bonds of this road, amounting to five million dollars, had been negotiated in Germany. The money has been paid down, and every dollar of it is available for the prosecution of the work. The success of the enterprise of course depends largely on the rapidity and judgment with which it is pushed on. The sooner the road is built the sooner will its lands be brought into market, and the sooner will the country be densely settled, so as to make it profitable to operate the road. As the means of constructing the road are fully assured, the more rapidly it is constructed the better will it be for the company and for the State. Eight thousand tons of rails and a large amount of other materials will be here before the close of summer. Surveying parties are pushing ahead to locate the road as far as the California line. Would all these preparations be going on if it were the intention to dismiss the laborers and stop work immediately after the election? This absurd statement is part of the common partisan twaddle that "Ben Holladay is running the Republican party." If we may believe these assertions he has already expended a million or two for the Republicans, which would evince the most self sacrificing disposition ever witnessed in a capitalist. But we should hazard nothing in guessing that nobody has yet seen the color of his money unless he has first given his muscle for it. A man who knows how to accumulate money generally knows how to take care of it.

Their Homestead Policy

It is edifying to find the Democratic press contending that the public lands should be reserved wholly for homesteads for the people, and that none of them should be given for the construction of railways.

That party comes up in an entirely new character, when it appears as the champion of homesteads. It always refused to pass a homestead law while it had power. It was not until May 1862, when the Republican party was in the ascendant, that the bill to grant homesteads to settlers passed. Then every Democrat in the Senate save one voted against it, and every Senator identified with the Republican party voted for it. Senator Stark of this State voted squarely against it. Senator Nesmith dodged the question. An examination of the Congressional Globe for the second session of the Thirty-Seventh Congress, Part Third page 1951 discloses these significant facts.

In February preceding the passage of the bill in the Senate it was before the House. The only opposition it met was from the Democratic side. Among those voting nay when the bill was put on its passage was George K Shiel the Democratic Representative from Oregon. A Democratic Representative from a State whose citizens had each been given a square mile of land by the General Government voted against a homestead act designed to secure to actual settlers the benefits of a home upon the public domain. From this it will be seen that Oregon, then represented wholly by Democrats, gave no vote for the measure which the Democratic press here now professes so much to admire. The record of the party on this subject is not such as to inspire the country with much confidence in its present professions.

Lost,—"the Vital Eighth Resolution."

Will the Herald tell us what has become of the vital eighth resolution? Will it explain why it is so completely silent on the one only subject which it thought worthy of discussion at the beginning of the canvass? Can't it muster up courage to give its readers just one more disquisition on equitable adjustment? Has it become a whipped subjugated and emasculated press a tool of the bondholding wing of the party wearing both a collar and a muzzle and afraid to speak save with bated breath and whispering humbleness? It certainly could at least answer the Albany Democrat in the language of the injury made by the ass to Balaam which would be better than no answer at all.

In the plaintive language of the poet what was the vital eighth resolution ever begun for to be so soon done for? One cannot now find in any paper of the party a word concerning that great resolution. At the beginning of the campaign the party started out with the words of the resolution blazing in great letters on their standards. In this sign shall we conquer. They wanted nothing better to beat the Radical with. But a change has come over them. Repudiation it has been discovered is not so stirring a battle cry after all. There are more honest people in the country than the party managers had supposed. Hence they discover that the vital eighth resolution is a good and safe thing to get rid of.

But as the eighth resolution has been discarded what has become of the principles of the party? We were told but a few weeks ago that the leading principles of the organization were embodied in that resolution that in it was all that gave any value to the contest, or inspired any hope among the Democracy. Well, all that is gone. If we are to take the utterances of the "organs" for it, with the abandonment of the "vital eighth resolution" there is nothing left worth contending for. Once more we ask, can't the leading organ of the party do something to bring back the original issues of the campaign so that Democrats can feel some interest in it?

Editorial Notes

When Woods charged Grover with having a Chinaman employed in his kitchen the latter did not deny it. But we observe that his Salem organ now denies it, from which we may infer that Grover has discharged his Chinaman.

The Albany Democrat says "The OREGONIAN, making a single speech the subject of its comments assigns to Mr Slater two directly opposite positions upon the same question." That was because he occupied two directly opposite positions on the same question, don't you see?

Those flattering accounts of Mr R E Bybee, with the very numerous reports of his speeches (!) that are appearing in the Democratic organ,—are they written up by that talented young gentleman himself? Two persons figure very largely in the "organ" just now viz "Grasshopper Jim" and "Robert E Bybee, Esquire."

A tremendous panic has been produced in the Democratic camp by having it proved that their candidate for Governor has negotiated for the employment of Chinese operatives in the Salem factory. From the desperate but futile efforts which the organs are making to disprove it, we may suppose that they regard "the party" as injured by it more than by anything else that has occurred during the campaign.

As Mr Grover is silenced on the Chinaman for the remainder of the campaign there would seem to be little need of his going further with the Republican speakers. He had just as well stop at Salem and devote himself to his original design of obtaining Chinese operatives for his woolen mill. The "spring clip" will soon begin to come in, and as Mr Grover is not to be Governor he might as well be looking after business.

The county Democratic Convention, it will be remembered, nominated Col Chapman for the petty office of County Surveyor. He immediately published a letter in which he stated that he considered the nomination an insult and peremptorily directed that his name should be taken from the ticket. Yet the "organ" day by day continues to insult him by printing his name on the ticket as candidate for the position he has spurned. One would suppose that after the publication of his caustic letter against the repudiation organ, the said organ would be glad to drop him.

We have learned that we were in error a day or two since in stating that the railroad to start from the Central Pacific at the north bend of the Humboldt is to enter the Wallamet valley at or near Eugene City. The bill, as we are informed by a person who has received private telegrams concerning it, provides that the road shall connect with the Oregon and California road in Rogue river valley. This arrangement seems to have been opposed by the Central Pacific folk, and to have been carried through in spite of their opposition. A railroad constructed on the route designated would place all parts of western and southern Oregon in direct communication with the great trans-continental trunk line.

Grasshopper Jim, it would appear has been engaged in a piece of business very congenial to his tastes. He taxes the editor of the OREGONIAN with having visited the house of a prominent gentleman of this city on an evening some time ago, which, of course, suggests the idea that the "high toned Grasshopper" is accustomed to play the part of a spy and eavesdropper. As to the awful charge that the editor of this paper occasionally calls on gentlemen of this city (into whose residences no such person as the Grasshopper would, in any event be admitted) we have nothing to say. We only advise gentlemen who do not wish their private affairs pried into to keep their gates locked, and to take care that no eavesdroppers are hidden in their shrubbery or behind their doors.

How does the Democrat expect to be able to get rid of the semi annual interest except by repudiating the principal?—OREGONIAN

Why bless your innocent soul! by paying the principal rather than let it run until we have paid four or five times the amount of it in interest. That plan may never have occurred to the OREGONIAN but it will work.—Albany Democrat

And where will you get money to pay the principal? You want to reduce the tariff to abolish internal taxes and to cut off all the leading sources of revenue and yet you talk about paying the principal of the national debt at once so as to stop the interest. Why bless your innocent soul! do you know of any way whereby a government can get out of debt except by raising money by taxation or by the Democratic method of repudiation?

School Fund Transactions

SHOWING WHO SWINDLED THE FUND

[From the Salem Statesman May 13]

We give below the names of the only two men who have ever swindled the school or university fund by payment of depreciated currency in place of coin borrowed.

B F BONHAM,

the candidate on the Democratic ticket for Judge of the Third Judicial District, having borrowed coin on the 27th of March, 1865 paid the County Treasurer $540 and on the same day paid the State Treasurer $378, both amounts being paid dollar for dollar in currency worth about two thirds of the money borrowed. These figures are taken from the public records and will not be denied.

BEN HAYDEN,

the apostle of Democracy in Polk and Democratic candidate for the Legislature offers the following interesting record:

The Commissioners of the University Fund as any one can learn by applying to the agent of the Board have Ben Hayden's note, dated Nov 13 1861 for $164—at which time all transactions were on a coin basis—secured by mortgage on "river lot No 2, section 1 N E quarter of N E quarter, T 8 south, R 4 W, in Polk county." The only payment on this note is dated April 5, 1867, (at which time currency was worth only 70 cents) and I R Moores, agent of the Board, has certified on the back of the note that on that day Ben Hayden paid him $200 currency. He owed the University Fund $200 coin and paid currency worth 70 cents on the dollar.

RECORD OF AN HONEST MAN—JOSEPH G WILSON,

Republican candidate for Congress gave his note to the University Fund Commissioner Oct 12, 1858, for $170 with interest at 15 per cent per annum. The interest was paid up at that rate until Oct 12 1861 at which time the then State Treasurer, Hon J D Boon, employed his legal services to foreclose a mortgage given the Fund by J B Parrott and wife, for $1,200, for which services he was to receive $50, the same by agreement to be credited as payment on his note, held by the Treasurer as above. This note was settled as follows:

Amount originally borrowed	$170 00
Interest from Oct 12 1861, to Dec 22, 1866, at 15 per cent per annum	132 45
Total Principal and Interest Dec 22, 1866	$302 45
CREDIT
By legal services in 1861	$ 50 00
By coin paid Dec 22, 1866	100 00
By currency paid Dec 22, 1866 $200 at [illegible]	151 50
	$302 50

We call attention to the fact that Judge Wilson paid 15 per cent interest at the same time Hayden and Bonham were only paying 10 per cent, and that he paid full interest from Oct, 1861 to Dec 22 1866 on the fifty dollars which should have been credited at that time. He overpaid the interest $37 50. He paid more interest than he ought, and his case offers a proper opportunity for "equitable adjustment."

Oct 12, 1861 principal (interest being paid)		$170 00
Cr —By legal services, 1861		50 00
Amount at interest		$120 00
Interest to Dec 22 1866—5 years 2 months and 10 days, at 15 per cent		93 05
Amount justly due		$213 05
Paid coin	$100 00
currency	50 00

Leaving an actual cash balance due Judge Wilson in coin, after payment of note and interest of $40 [illegible].

W W PARKER Secretary

The Pall Mall Gazette thinks that serious complications may arise between the United States and Great Britain in consequence of our government's sending a war steamer to protect our fisheries in Canadian waters. The ground taken by it and probably by the English government is that the war of 1812 wholly abrogated the fishing rights which were secured to us by the Paris treaty of 1783—a position which our government has always disputed—that they were only reciprocity treaty and that when that treaty treaty was discontinued all our fishery rights ceased. It is a very nice question for diplomacy but hardly a cause for war. It is not easy to see by what right a nation can claim to regulate the fisheries on its coast even so far out to sea as the three miles from the shore which was the limit established before the reciprocity treaty went into effect. It is certain that the fishing interest is too important to us to be abandoned without an earnest effort on our part to retain it. The Canadians desire to use this denial of the right to fish as a sort of whip to drive us into a renewal of the reciprocity treaty but we are persuaded that they will fail in any such design.

CITY.

THE PICNIC ON SATURDAY.—The picnic and reunion of the Sabbath schools of this city and Oregon City on Saturday last In spite of the unfavorable weather was the greatest affair that has ever taken place in Oregon by way of an excursion. Seven schools of this city were promptly in line at the hour appointed and headed by the Amateur Brass Band proceeded to the ferry boat. The river being up to such a stage as to prevent the embarkation at the station Mr Douglass steamed his precious cargo up to the bank near the old powder magazine and a walk of four or five blocks brought the procession to the railroad. The seven Sabbath schools averaged 100 each—being 700 children parents and teachers—besides about 700 friends and families who were in attendance outside the list of those above enumerated There was some little disappointment on the road but previous to departure but this only sharpened the appetite of the assembled multitude and when the cars came in sight of the excursion and the schools received them with long loud rounds of applause. The train was made up with two locomotives the Portland and O and comprised the handsome baggage car, mail and express car two passenger coaches a freight car for the baskets chairs and other freight of the party and fourteen platform cars fixed up in good style—in all eighteen cars As to arrangements nothing could be better and Mr Holladay certainly deserves the hearty thanks of the entire community for his exertions to render everything comfortable and convenient The ride to the picnic grounds, at the Clackamas river from East Portland occupied one hour and ten minutes. The train was under the immediate supervision of the Master Machinist Mr Carrol and every position was filled by a trustworthy employe. Mr Holladay was himself present and took a lively interest in seeing that everything was managed with a view to the complete comfort of the excursionists Upon arriving at the grounds the Schools from this city alighted and the train proceeded to Oregon City and brought the Schools from that place down to the number of about 400 The weather was a little more fair in the afternoon and the picnic passed off in a manner highly satisfactory Before six o'clock in the evening all were home again and all are thankful to Mr Holladay for the favors bestowed upon them by permitting such a large party free of all expense to them They also felt a debt of gratitude to Mr Douglass for his kindness in putting them across the river both going and coming, without charge. The various superintendents of the Schools and especially Mr Myers, Marshal of the day deserve credit for their assiduous attentions and preservation of good order.

A FALSE ALARM.—We shall only premise the subject of the annexed letter by saying in the way of an explanation, that so far as we are individually concerned we acted honestly about the matter of the statements made by us, to which this is a reply, and that we were not alone when we saw the drawings of the bridge referred to were made If an injustice has been done to any person we shall certainly plead innocence of any intentions on our part "In the daily OREGONIAN of May 11th, we noticed an article in relation to the bridge on the line road, in the vicinity of Yamhill river. Now for the satisfaction of the community, we propose to give the size of the material part of this bridge. The bents are 20 feet apart, placed upon hard ground, a foundation to rest upon as Each bent has three posts with a cap of the same size 25 feet. The stringers are nearly all 40 feet sized down to 11 inches, shoulder of one inch on them, so either way the stringers have but half of them meet on the just loosely hold edges, as stated in the article, entirely off, as stated, nor can unless the hills give way in between, for they are them at each end, and all other. Now there is a good with stringers the whole length of inches square, fastened down on the top of the floor and under the hand rails We to this article but think the bridge itself is the best testimony we could And if Mr. Stevenson, the civil engineer in the article, has made such a record would advise him to take it off as soon as possible. The bridge itself will prove them false. We invite the public to examine the bridge, and if it does not correspond with the description Mark that. J Williams, Thos Fitch, O. O Hosford, William Kerns J C are on the subject of bridges we will a word of caution to the public about the the river, as we know them to be quite and are very dangerous "

THE PORTLAND BRIDGE COMPANY.—Articles of a company to be known as the Bridge Company, were filed in the office May 11th The following The object of the incorporation It proposes to engage in, is the of a bridge across the Willamette river, point within the corporate limits of Portland on the west bank of the river to a suitable point on the east bank of said river ; and to collect such tolls fare and freight conveyed over and upon such said bridge shall be deemed expedient by said in and to purchase and own all land on and real or personal property of every name and nature that may be deemed necessary for the interests of said incorporation in the prosecution of the above referred to and to sell and transfer the same The amount of the capital stock of this incorporation shall be $200 000 in U. S. gold or silver coin The amount of each share of such capital stock shall be $10 The principal offices of the incorporation shall be at the cities of Portland and East Portland The articles of incorporation are signed by Frank E. West, B Joseph, Henry Failing B Goldsmith, Phil. W Hausan, L M Starr, J C. Haw and A. M Loryea.

CITY CREDIT.—We see it stated somewhere that American cities increase in debt about as rapidly as in population. Philadelphia is in for the modest sum of $42,401,933, but New York ranks her, and owes some $72,560,436 Lesser places follow in about the same proportion To be free from debt, it seems to be a city, according to the American standard, and a huge debt seems inseparable from a huge city It is about time, for the welfare of the public, that some other standard of excellence was adopted, and that the old fashioned plan of "pay as you go," which former generations thought quite safe was reinstated and for an example we present the lovely little city of Portland on Wallamet. Her orders pass for gold and she has no liabilities at present but cash assets to the value of nearly half a million of dollars.

CLERGY.—The steamship Moses Taylor left San Francisco on Saturday morning for this port. We notice among the passengers the names of Rt. Rev Bishop Morris and other clergymen of Oregon, who went below to attend the meeting of the Board of Missions of the Episcopal Church of the United States, at San Francisco Also Judge J D Caton, a prominent member of the Illinois bar. The list is about the same as that of the California. One hundred and fifty are reported "in the steerage," who belong to a class which is very desirable to have in Oregon just at this time They are not on an excursion but come to remain with us.

RECEPTION OF GOV SALOMON.—The Victoria Colonist of the 11th inst. informs us that the people of Puget Sound warmly welcomed Gov — At all the ports he was received with salutes and manifestations of rejoicing At Seattle the California laid over one day and the Governor attended a ball given in his honor At Steilacoom the steamer was detained four hours by the state of the tide and the citizens drove Gov Salomon and staff to the lakes and other places of interest in the country At Olympia the Governor held a levee at the house of Colonel Ross, Indian Agent, and was visited by hundreds

DEDICATION.—The new hall of Brooklyn Lodge No. 114 I O G T was dedicated on Friday evening last by Capt J W Kearn L D and the assistance of members from the lodges of this city and East Portland The dedicatory address was delivered by Mr Thayer of East Portland. Mr G. A Moreland of this city and others, also delivered addresses At the close of these interesting exercises, a collection was taken up for the purpose of raising funds to pay off the indebtedness of the Lodge, and we are pleased to learn a sum sufficient to liquidate the debt within $75, was contributed

U S COURT.—The U S District Court M P Deady, Judge, will convene at 10 o clock, A M this morning

DELEGATES I O O F.—Several delegates to the Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, which will meet in this city tomorrow have arrived Among the number we note the presence of I G R, Cris Taylor of Yamhill Lodge N 20 J M Day, of Jack sonville I G M John I Bloomfield of Eugene City P Dav d Crane of Boise City Idaho together with several others The lodge will convene at the I O O F Temple corner of First and First streets at 9 A M

INCORPORATION.—The Tualatin River Navigation and Manufacturing Company elected directors at the annual meeting at Hillsboro on the ... as follows W J D Hare J D Merryman Joseph Kellogg Orin Kellogg and George Marshal The officers chosen by the directors subsequently are the following President—W D Hare Vice President—Joseph Kellogg Secretary W Failing. The place of business was changed from Hillsboro Washington county to Oswego Clackamas county

Newspaper Statements

HOW THE PEOPLE TEST THEIR TRUTH

This is not an age when people believe or trust whatever they see in the public journals. Fifty or sixty years ago when the accuracy of a statement that had appeared in one of the gazettes or ' News Letters' of the day was questioned, it was considered a sufficient answer to all cavil to say It must be so for I read it in the newspaper ' It is not so now Newspaper assertions must be verified before they are taken for granted and this is especially the case as regards statements setting forth the remedial properties of Proprietary medicines For example It was not until the tonic and alterative properties of Hostetters Stomach Bitters has been deliberately and thoroughly tested by thousands and found to be in perfect accord with the printed claims put forth in its behalf, that it was accepted by the public at large as a Standard Remedy But when multitudes who had resorted to it as a safeguard against malarious fevers a cure for indigestion and biliousness a means of strengthening the frame, cheering the spirits and imparting constitutional vigor came forward and testified that its beneficial effects had exceeded their most sanguine expectations, of course the world believed. To resist such proofs was impossible. Great care had been taken from the beginning not to overstate the merits of the Bitters. Exaggeration and bombast have been the death of many preparations that might otherwise have survived They were' weighed in the balance and found wanting Hostetter's Bitters, on the contrary have never been announced in grandiloquent language as a cure for every bodily ill, but simply as a pure harmless vegetable specific possessing remarkable invigorating regulating, antibilious and antiseptic properties This is exactly what the public know the medicine to be and its enormous sales is an argument in its favor.

Use KANE'S IMPERIAL CONDENSED SOAP It washes without rubbing. For sale by Allen & Lewis, Corbitt & McCleay R. G Sneath and all retailers.

Decision in the U S Circuit Court

[illegible]

Circuit Court [illegible] District of Oregon Tuesday May [illegible] 1870 J B Fitch vs Durand [illegible] and Carnes et al defendants

This action was commenced April 16 1869 to recover the possession of lot [illegible] in block [illegible] in the city of Portland. It was commenced against George W Durand then in the actual possession of the premises.

The complaint alleges that the plaintiff is a citizen of the State of California and that said Durand is a citizen and resident of Oregon and that plaintiff is the owner in fee simple of the property sued for and is entitled to the immediate possession thereof and that the defendant Durand is wrongfully in the possession of the same and withholds such possession to the damage of plaintiff $1,000.

Among the papers in the case is one purporting to be the answer of Durand and signed by his attorneys and verified by him on April 27, 1869. The paper is attached to the separate applications of William Cornell and others to be made defendants in place of Durand the outer one of which is marked 'Filed May 3 1869.' I presume it was assumed by the attorney that this answer being attached to these applications became a part of them and was filed with them. But this is a mistake. It has no connection with them and ought not to have been attached to them. It comes from another source and should have been filed before the applications were entitled to be heard. A landlord has no right to apply to be substituted as defendant in place of the party who is in actual possession and sued until the latter by his answer made and filed in court declares "that he is in possession only as the tenant of another naming him and his place of residence." —(Or Code 325) Such slovenly and irregular practices touching matters of this kind are often in after times the cause of innocent parties being involved in unnecessary and expensive litigation and therefore ought not to be tolerated by the courts. For this reason I call attention to it in this instance. Having done so I will assume for the purposes of this case, that it was in fact filed, although not so endorsed, by being lodged in the Clerk's office and placed by the Clerk among the papers of the case and that therefore Cornell and others had a legal right to be made defendants in place of Durand the party in possession.

The answer of Durand admits that he is in possession of the premises, but alleges that he holds such possession as the tenant of William Cornell, S M Tunstall and Mary Jane, his wife Jonathan Moore and Jacob Cline residents of Multnomah county in the district aforesaid.

On May 5, 1869, William Cornell, in pursuance of an order of the court making himself and the others aforesaid defendants in place of Durand filed an answer to the complaint, which contains the following pleas or defences:

1 A specific denial of each material allegation of the complaint except the citizenship of the parties and the possession of the defendants.

2 That the defendant is the owner in fee of an undivided one-fourth of the premises, for which he defends. This plea instead of stopping here proceeds to state at length the evidence which the defendant claims proves the fact that he is the owner of such undivided interest in the premises. This part of the plea will be omitted here and stated in the evidence.

3 That the plaintiff ought not to have and maintain this action, because in an action heretofore brought by one Jacob Cline to recover the possession of the same premises against John Hulery in the Circuit Court for the County of Multnomah and State of Oregon, in which one Mary Cline, guardian for her minor children Antha Isabella, Mary Jane and Jacob Cline was admitted by the order of said Court as a defendant in place of said Hulery as guardian aforesaid, it was on December 5, 1863, by the judgment of said Court determined that said Mary Cline as guardian aforesaid was entitled to the possession of said premises and that said Jacob Cline take nothing by his said action and that afterwards the said Jacob Cline appealed from the judgment of said Circuit Court to the Supreme Court of the State aforesaid and said Supreme Court on hearing and consideration of said appeal gave judgment on September, — 1864, affirming the judgment of the said Circuit Court, which still remains in full force and effect, and that said judgments of said Circuit and Supreme Courts are conclusive as to the estate in said premises and the right to the possession thereof upon said Cline and all persons claiming under him since the commencement of said action, and that the only right or title held by the plaintiff herein is derived from Jacob Cline since said action was commenced.

4. That the defendant and those under whom he claims since November 26, 1862 have made permanent improvements upon the premises of the value of $1,000, which sum he offers to set off against any sum that the plaintiff herein may be found entitled to as damages on account of the defendant's occupation of the premises.

The other three defendants filed separate and similar answers, Mary Cline appearing and answering for her ward, Jacob Cline aforesaid.

On May 6, the plaintiff filed separate replications to the answers of the defendants. These do not contain, as they should, separate replys to the separate defences in the answers of title in the defendants and a former adjudication of the right to the possession of the premises. As to the plea of title they deny that the defendants are each the owners of an undivided fourth of the premises or of any estate or interest therein, and then proceed to reply to the evidence of defendants' alleged title as set forth in the plea of title in the answer—either denying the facts stated, or the legal conclusions sought to be drawn therefrom. The proper reply to this part of these pleas would have been a motion to strike out for redundancy. As to the pleas of former adjudication the replications admit that an action was brought in the Circuit Court aforesaid by Jacob Cline against John Hulery to recover possession of the premises in the complaint mentioned, as stated in said pleas, but deny that it was adjudged therein that said Cline take nothing by said action, or that the same was brought for the identical causes as this or that all the matters involved in this action were adjudged or finally determined therein and allege that a true copy of the judgment in said action is hereto attached and marked A and denies that said judgments of the Circuit and Supreme Court aforesaid are conclusive as to the estate in said property, or as to the right to the possession thereof upon said Jacob Cline, or those claiming under him as alleged in said pleas.

As to the so called exhibit A, attached to the replications it cannot be regarded as a part of them. There is no such thing as an exhibit in pleadings, in an action at law. A record or instrument must be stated in a pleading according to its legal effect, or it may be recited therein in haec verba, or according to the tenor thereof and its legal operation referred to the Court (Gould's Plead 156-60). The plaintiff by his replication denies that the action mentioned in this record or so called exhibit A was brought for the same causes of action as this and also denies that the legal effect claimed for such record by the defendants in their answers. This is sufficient so far as the pleadings are concerned. The burden of proof is upon the defendants to show the existence of such a record and that they have correctly stated its legal effect.

From the evidence it appears:

I That in 18[illegible] in the State [illegible] Jacob Cline and Mary Cline were intermarried and that [illegible] until 1862 and since 1864 they have resided in Multnomah county Oregon.

II That on September 26 1862 Mary Cline commenced a suit against Jacob Cline her husband for a divorce from the bonds of matrimony on account of adultery and harsh and cruel treatment and [illegible] the custody and guardianship of [illegible] children of said marriage [illegible] of Jacob's property and an allotment [illegible] thereof to said Mary as might [illegible] under the circumstances and that Mary was the owner in her own right of one half of the donation claim of 640 acres of said Jacob and Mary of the value of $4,500 and that said Jacob was the owner of the other half of said donation claim together with other real property situate in the city of Portland of the value of $[illegible] and of personal property of the value of $[illegible] all of which had been acquired since the marriage aforesaid except $1,500 which Jacob possessed at that time and that there were then living seven children the issue of said marriage [illegible] of whom were minors between the ages of [illegible] years.

III That on November 26 1862 said Circuit Court by a decree then given in said suit [illegible] adjudged and provided, that the parties thereto be divorced from the bonds of matrimony and that said Mary have the custody [illegible] of the four minor children of the parties mentioned in the complaint [illegible] Antha Isabella, Mary Jane and Jacob [illegible] care and control [illegible] their [illegible] respectively [illegible] the defendant [illegible] claims [illegible] willed by Jacob [illegible] Mary to have and to hold to her during her natural life [illegible] which real property according to the statements of said parties in their respective pleadings was then of the value of $5[illegible] and also that certain [illegible] said Jacob of the [illegible] transferred to said Mary [illegible] to said Mary the [illegible] the remainder [illegible] within the [illegible] also "all the right title and interest of said Jacob in and to lots three, four, five and six in block [illegible] in the city of Portland, be and the same is vested [illegible] of the said Jacob until the [illegible] of the [illegible] minor children of the parties [illegible] Antha Isabella Mary Jane and Jacob [illegible] as tenants in common [illegible] to have and to hold the same with the appurtenances to them and their heirs forever, and the said Jacob is hereby ordered and required to deliver over to the said [illegible] the guardian [illegible] the possession of said property and said guardian is hereby required to use and apply the rents and profits of said estate to the maintenance and education of said minors respectively according to their interest during their minority which last mentioned property is the same for the possession of which this action is brought and which at the date of said decree according to the statements of the parties as aforesaid was of the value of about $3,600 and further that the remaining property and pecuniary rights of Jacob not disposed of by said decree remain [illegible] him as if the same had not been made.

IV That Jacob paid said sum of $1,500 to said Mary and also the costs of said suit and that on November 25 1863 Jacob gave notice of an appeal from the decree aforesaid to the Supreme Court of the State of Oregon and that on September 2[illegible] 1864 said Supreme Court [illegible] motion of respondent dismissed said appeal without hearing the cause upon its merits because so far as appears no transcript thereof was filed by appellant in said court.

V That on October 8, 1863, said Jacob Cline brought an action in the Circuit Court aforesaid against John Hulery to recover possession of the premises in controversy, alleging in his complaint therein that he was the owner in fee and entitled to the possession of the premises, and that said Hulery was wrongfully in the possession thereof. On the same day Hulery was duly served with process requiring him to appear and answer the complaint by November 9 which he failed to do. On November 14 Cline moved for a judgment against Hulery and on the same day Mary Cline moved for leave to appear and answer as the landlord of Hulery. Accompanying this latter motion was the affidavit of Mary to the effect, that the property in question belonged to her children and as their guardian she was entitled to the possession of the same and that she had rented it to Hulery and had no notice of the pendency of the action until the day before whereupon said Circuit Court denied the motion of Jacob and allowed the motion of Mary. On November 16 Mary filed an answer to the complaint of Jacob, wherein she denies that he is the owner of the premises and entitled to the possession thereof and pleads according to the tenor thereof so much of the decree, in the suit for divorce above mentioned as relates to the premises in controversy, and that as guardian of the minor children aforesaid she had rented said property to Hulery who was then in the possession of the same as her tenant, and that she was applying the rents and profits of said property to the support of said children in pursuance of said decree.

VI. That the action aforesaid was tried by the said Circuit Court without the intervention of a jury and on December 4 the said court found as a conclusion of fact that 'Mary Cline is the guardian of the minor children named in the answer, and as such, was at the time of the commencement of this suit and is by her tenant, the defendant Hulery, in possession of the premises described in the complaint,' and that the decree, an extract of which is set out in the answer, remains unreversed and at the date of the answer not appealed;" and that said Court also found "as a conclusion of law from these facts that the defendant Mary Cline as guardian, etc the defendant John Hulery as her tenant is entitled to the possession of said premises. And afterwards on December 5, the Court aforesaid gave judgment in said action and upon said findings as follows:

"This cause being submitted to the Court upon the pleadings and an agreed statement of facts the Court finds that the defendant Mary Cline, as guardian and the defendant Hulery as her tenant are entitled to the possession of the premises described in the complaint and it is ordered and adjudged by the Court that the defendant Mary Cline, as guardian, and defendant John Hulery as her tenant do have and hold the possession of said premises and that they recover of and from the plaintiff their costs and disbursements to be taxed." And that afterwards Jacob Cline took an appeal from said judgment of said Circuit Court, to the Supreme Court of the State of Oregon upon the hearing and consideration of which it was determined by said Supreme Court on September 27, 1864, that there was no error in the record of the proceedings in the Court below and that its judgment 'be in all things affirmed.'

VII That in the month of August, 1862, Jacob Cline became and was the owner in fee simple of the premises, and that soon after the decree of divorce aforesaid Mary Cline with the knowledge of Jacob received the rent from the tenant in possession of the same, and after said tenant left the premises she rented them to Hulery aforesaid, and that the use and occupation of the same since November 1862 has been worth not less than $45 per month or $520 per annum, and that on December 9 1868 Jacob Cline and Sarah Ellen his wife duly executed a conveyance of the premises to the plaintiff herein, and that Isabella aforesaid intermarried with one James Campbell in the month of December, 1867 and afterwards and before December, 1868 she and her said husband duly executed a conveyance of an undivided one fourth interest in the premises to the defendant Moore and that Antha aforesaid intermarried with one Peter Cline prior to December 1868 and afterwards and prior to said last mentioned date she and her said husband duly executed a conveyance of an undivided one fourth interest in the premises to the defendant Cornell and that Mary Jane aforesaid after the decree of divorce aforesaid and before the commencement of the action, intermarried with one S M Tunstall one of the defendants herein and that said Antha Isabella and Mary Jane had each arrived at the age of majority before the commencement of the action and that said Jacob C[illegible] junior is now aged fifteen years and six months.

Upon this statement of the case two principal questions arise and were argued by counsel.

1 Had the Circuit Court of Multnomah county jurisdiction and power in the suit for divorce between Mary and Jacob Cline to take the property of the latter and vest it in his children or any of them? and

2 Is the plaintiff barred from maintaining this action to recover the possession of the premises by reason of the judgment of said Circuit Court in the action of Jacob Cline against Hulery, aforesaid.

The answer to the first question depends upon the construction to be given to the Statute then in force, entitled — 'An act relating to marriage and divorce' passed January 17 1854 and which took effect the 1st of May following. The second and last chapter of the act is entitled 'Divorce and Alimony.' After declaring the causes for which a divorce might be granted and in what Court the proceedings should be had and the mode of them the act provides as follows:

"Sec. [illegible] The Court in granting a divorce shall make such disposition of and provisions for the children as shall appear most expedient under all the circumstances and most for the present comfort and future well being of such children. * * *

Sec. [illegible] In granting [illegible] the Court shall also make such disposition of the property of the parties as shall appear just and equitable, having regard to the respective merits of the parties and to the condition in which they will be left by such divorce and to the party through whom the property was acquired and to the burdens imposed upon it for the benefit of children. * * *

Sec. 10 When the marriage shall be dissolved by the husband being sentenced to imprisonment and when a divorce shall be ordered for the cause of adultery committed by the husband the wife shall be entitled to her dower in his lands in the same manner as if he were dead but she shall not be entitled to dower in any other case of divorce." [illegible]

This act remained in force until June 1 186[illegible] when it was superseded by Title VII of the Civil Code passed October 11 1862. If the act has received a settled construction in the courts of Oregon it is the duty of this Court to follow such construction. But I do not think it can be said to have received such a construction. It contained no provision for an appeal from the inferior Courts in which the original jurisdiction was vested to the Supreme Court and therefore its provisions never came before the latter court, and were never directly considered or expounded by it. During the existence of the act the decisions of the District Courts until the [illegible] went into [illegible] were final [illegible] have [illegible] decrees of the [illegible] other of [illegible] children.

In H [illegible] v H [illegible] on September [illegible] there was a decree for divorce on the complaint [illegible]. The parties were in possession of a [illegible] under the act of [illegible] the half thereof [illegible] The court [illegible] Judge [illegible] gave the wife [illegible] half of the land and [illegible] half [illegible] two minor children [illegible] parties.

In [illegible] v [illegible] on June [illegible] there was a decree granted on the complaint of the [illegible] The parties were in possession of a donation claim and the court (Olney Judge) gave the [illegible] half of the land and gave the wife's half to the minor children of the marriage.

In Fitz [illegible] on August [illegible] 1858 there was a divorce granted on the complaint of the wife and the parties appear to have been in possession of a donation claim of 640 acres. The court (Wait, Judge) divided the wife's half of the claim between herself and two minor children but made no disposition of the husband's half.

In [illegible] on November 29 1861 there was a divorce granted on complaint of the wife [illegible] Wait Judge) divided [illegible] acres) between the wife and one minor child of the marriage.

In [illegible] on August [illegible] was granted on the complaint of the wife. The parties were in possession of a donation claim of 640 acres. The court (Wait Judge) gave the husband his half of the claim and divided the wife's half between herself and one infant child of the marriage.

No other instances of the exercise of this power have been shown and these are confined to one judicial district of the State, the same in which [illegible] was decided. In the larger [illegible] districts [illegible] such construction appears to have been given to the act, and [illegible] comparatively few [illegible] in a period of [illegible] years [illegible] If this state of things is any evidence of a settled construction of the statute by the courts of Oregon it is against the view claimed by the defendant.

I conclude then that the question is unsettled and that this court must construe the act for itself.

The primary object of the statute was to authorize and provide for the dissolution of the marriage relation in certain cases when on account of the neglect, misconduct or unfitness of one of the parties to it the other, in the judgment of the Legislative Assembly, should no longer be bound by it. But when a divorce is granted the parties are not restored to their original condition and it becomes necessary to provide for and adjust the rights of the parties in and to the property of each other, and to make disposition of and provide for the future custody and maintenance of the minor children of the marriage. This power is merely incidental to that of granting the divorce and therefore ought not to be extended or applied farther than is necessary and convenient to provide for the altered circumstances of the parties directly consequent upon their judicial separation. Unless a divorce is granted the court has no power over the property or children of the parties. The power to dispose of the property of the parties is an unqualified one. Certainly it would not be contended that the Legislature intended to give the court power in its discretion to dispose of the property by giving it to the parents of the parties or to their [illegible] to strangers or to charitable purposes nor it seems to me, could the rights of creditors be prejudiced or excluded by such disposition. In making this disposition the court is required by the act to have regard to the respective merits of the parties' that is the parties whose property is to be disposed of are the parties whose respective merits are to be regarded by the court in making such disposition. Now the necessary inference from this clause is that in disposing of the property the court is confined to the parties whose "merits" it is required to consider in making it. These parties are the parties to the suit—the husband and wife—and not other persons whether strangers or relations lineal or collateral. Again the court in disposing of the property of the parties, is to have regard to the condition in which they —the parties to the suit— will be left by such divorce and also to the party —one of the parties to the suit— through whom the property was acquired and 'to the burdens imposed upon it'—the property divided between the parties—for the benefit of children.

From these considerations I conclude that section 8 which authorizes the court granting a divorce to make such disposition of the property of the parties as shall appear just and equitable cannot nor ought not to be construed as giving power to such court to dispose of such property by giving it to third persons—even if they were the children of such parties. The only disposition of the property which this section authorizes the court to make is one between the parties to the suit. Whether its power in this respect is absolute or not is a serious question but for the purposes of this action it may be admitted to be unlimited.

But it is claimed that under the clause already quoted from section [illegible] of the act the Circuit Court had power to give the premises in controversy to the minor children of Cline. This clause provides that 'the court in granting a divorce shall make such disposition and provision for the children as shall appear expedient under the circumstances and most for the present comfort and future well being of such children.' This power to dispose of and make provision for children is given to the court by the statute only as an incident to the power to grant a divorce. Therefore as has been said of the power to dispose of the property of the parties, it ought not to be extended or applied farther than is necessary and convenient for the altered circumstances of the parties directly consequent upon their judicial separation.

During the marriage the custody of the children belongs to the parents jointly subject to the ultimate authority of the father as the head of the family, but upon a divorce being granted it is or may be impossible that this joint custody can be continued. To meet this emergency the court is authorized to dispose of the children. But it would not be authorized to dispose of them by giving them to a third person, whom it regarded as better qualified than either of the parents. The act was not made to enable the Circuit Court to interfere with the relation of parent and child only as an incident of the power of granting a divorce and then only as far as might become necessary on that account. The joint custody of the parents being determined or rendered impracticable by the divorce, the only power of the court in the premises is to provide for the emergency by giving the children to one or the other of them.

This word children, must be construed to mean minor children. If the children of the parents are of age when the divorce is granted the court has no power to dispose of them or provide for them. [illegible] they are no longer in the custody or under the control of their parents, nor are the latter bound to maintain them except under peculiar circumstances arising from poverty and sickness.

So with the power to make "provisions for the children" of divorced parties, it must be exercised in subordination to the proposition that the court is only authorized to make provision for their maintenance so far as the condition and circumstances of their parents warrants and requires and their divorce renders it necessary. Of course under no circumstances would it be authorized to make provision out of the property of the parties or either of them for the maintenance of children who are of age and whom the parents are therefore not bound to support.

Whether under the authority to make provision for the minor children of Jacob Cline the court had authority to take the premises in controversy and give them [illegible] such children outright, during their minority [illegible] their mother in trust for them may be a question [illegible] The act seems rather to contemplate that the provision shall be made in the usual way by giving the parent to whom the children are confided a larger portion of property to enable him or her to meet the burden of their maintenance or by imposing upon the property of the other a charge sufficient for that purpose. But the act so far as it gives the court jurisdiction [illegible] is unqualified. There is no limit or restraint as to the choice of means by which the court shall make the provision [illegible] that the [illegible] under all the circumstances, had authority to vest the property in the children or their mother for their use for that purpose. But as Jacob Cline was not bound to support his children after they became of age the court had no authority to make any provision [illegible] for their maintenance to extend beyond the time when they would become of age [illegible]

The Circuit Court although authorized to divorce Mary from Jacob and as between themselves to make a just and equitable disposition [illegible] and to dispose of and provide for the maintenance of their minor children had no power to anticipate Jacob's demise and to make a will for him devising this property to these children— To have and to hold the same with the appurtenances to them and their heirs forever.

Upon this point it seems to me there is no room for difference of opinion. The decision of the Circuit Court given in the suit for divorce so far as it provides that the premises in controversy should be held by or for the use of the minor children of Jacob beyond the time when they should become of age respectively is simply void. Upon any [illegible] that I am [illegible] give the [illegible] taken [illegible] judgment to [illegible] what [illegible] things have no necessary connection [illegible] after are without [illegible] beyond the power [illegible] legislature to authorize.

[illegible] judgment in the case of Cline vs Hulery. The [illegible] so far as [illegible] in estate [illegible] Cline vs Hulery [illegible] in this case there [illegible] the Court [illegible] Hulery. The [illegible] Mary [illegible] not give judgment as to minors but the proceedings [illegible] No guardian can [illegible] appear for a minor but it must be [illegible] and thereby brought into Court and a guardian [illegible] and there appointed for him (Or Code 116, 151). It seems that Mary Cline assumed that she was the landlord of Hulery [illegible] when in fact upon her own showing the minor children were such landlords [illegible] the guardian [illegible] clear [illegible] before the Court in that action as defendant, except Hulery. True Mary Cline was admitted [illegible] the action as the landlord of Hulery [illegible] of plaintiff for judgment against Hulery [illegible] want of an answer. But [illegible] upon what ground the Court made this order as the law authorizing the landlord to be made defendant in place of the tenant in an action of ejectment does so only upon the condition or consideration that the tenant against whom the action is brought shall first answer and plead that he is in possession only as tenant [illegible] naming his landlord and his place of residence. Thereupon the landlord [illegible] shall be made defendant in place of the tenant [illegible] Hulery made no answer of any kind [illegible] allowed Mary [illegible] defendant upon her statement [illegible] sworn, that she was his landlord.

[illegible] it may be admitted that the court had the power to admit Mary [illegible] or that the plaintiff [illegible] accepted her as such defendant by proceeding to trial with the action against her and still the judgment therein would not have been given [illegible] the parties to this action or those under whom they claim, and therefore the plaintiff is not estopped by it. The minor children of Cline or their grantees defendants [illegible] claim under [illegible] but under Jacob Cline and therefore they are not estopped by a judgment in an action between Mary and Jacob and if they are not estopped then neither is Jacob or his subsequent grantee.

Again it may be assumed for the time being that in Cline vs Hulery, the minor children aforesaid became parties to the action by reason of their mother's being admitted as their guardian to become defendant as landlord and in place of Hulery and therefore that the judgment given therein is mutually binding upon said children and [illegible] either of them [illegible] claiming under them from asserting or claiming anything to the contrary, and still the plaintiff is not estopped by such judgment from maintaining that he is the owner of the premises in controversy and entitled to the possession thereof.

The action of Cline vs Hulery was brought under section 313 of the Civil Code which provides that 'Any person who has a legal estate in real property, and a present right to the possession thereof may recover such possession with damages for withholding the same, by an action at law. And also that the action must be brought against the person in actual possession, or if no one be in such possession then against the person acting as owner thereof.' (Or Code, 228.)

At common law ejectment was only a possessory action and a judgment therein did not determine the estate or interest of the parties in the property and owing to the special fictions which were a part of the action such judgment, in effect did not conclusively determine even the right to the possession. But in most of the United States it has been long since provided that a judgment in an action of ejectment as between the parties shall be conclusive as to all the questions actually and necessarily included therein or necessary to such determination. Still the defendant was permitted to plead the general denial or 'Not Guilty' and the jury to find a general verdict for the plaintiff or defendant. Under such a practice the record would not disclose what estate or interest, if any, the defendant claimed in the premises and if judgment was given for him it would not appear whether the jury passed upon his claim or not. The question may have been upon the evidence and been passed upon by the jury in favor of the defendant, or the controversy may have been confined to the title of the plaintiff and the jury may have based their verdict upon the insufficiency of the evidence to support it. Now if the judgment on the verdict was afterwards pleaded as an estoppel it would become necessary to ascertain by parol evidence what was proven to the jury and what was or was not passed upon by them in making up their verdict.

The action given by this Code is simply the common law action [illegible] its fictions but the Code goes farther and by way remedying the evils [illegible] of it provides that, 'The defendant shall not be allowed to give in evidence any estate in himself or another in the property, or any license or right to the possession thereof unless the same be pleaded in his answer,' with the certainty and particularity required in a complaint. The complaint must set forth the nature of the plaintiff's estate in the property whether it be in fee, for life or, for a term of years and for whose life or the duration of such term.'

The jury by their verdict [illegible] the defendant must find the estate in the property or part thereof or license or right to the possession [illegible] established on the trial by the defendant if any, in effect as the same is required to be pleaded. (Or Code 2[illegible])

It also provides that a judgment in ejectment [illegible] the estate in the property and the right to the possession thereof so far as the same is [illegible] to the party against whom the same is given and all persons claiming under him except in certain cases when judgment is given for want of an answer.

As to what is to be considered as having been determined by the judgment of the Circuit Court in Cline vs Hulery the Code prescribes as follows:

Sec 72 That only is deemed to have been determined by a former judgment [illegible] which appears upon its face to have been so determined [illegible] or which was actually and necessarily [illegible]

Now it is manifest that nothing appears to have been [illegible] by the judgment except that Mary Cline [illegible] was [illegible] entitled to the possession of the premises. The court setting as a jury [illegible] the fact [illegible] Mary [illegible] was [illegible] in the [illegible] divorce [illegible]

[illegible] appear [illegible] that the judgment of the Circuit Court was simply affirmed [illegible] judgments, [illegible] Circuit and Supreme Court may have been of the opinion that the decree in the divorce suit, so far as it provided that this property should be vested in the minor children after they become of age was simply void. The most that can be said to have been determined by the judgment is that the minor children were entitled to the use of the property according to their respective interests until they became of age respectively, and that in the meantime Mary as their guardian or trustee was entitled to the possession thereof and to take and receive the rents and profits for the purpose of their nurture and education.

By the act of October 1[illegible] 186[illegible] which took effect January [illegible] 1865 [illegible] the age of majority for males in this State was fixed at 21 years and that of females at 18 [illegible] Jacob Cline was [illegible] land [illegible] last mentioned undivided fourth [illegible] the defendants Cornell Moore and S M Tunstall [illegible] one fourth of the value of the use and occupation of the premises during the time they have had possession respectively and in the case of Tunstall since his wife Mary Jane became [illegible] years of age.

The answer of the defendants [illegible] for [illegible] improvements [illegible] the property by the defendants [illegible] they claim [illegible] that the improvements were made while the parties were [illegible] the plaintiff [illegible] permanent [illegible] examined witnesses upon the subject but I do not think the proof sufficient to warrant the conclusion that the improvements [illegible] are either permanent or valuable.

The defendants [illegible] have paid the ordinary taxes levied upon the property during their occupation [illegible] assessment for the improvement of [illegible] street. Although not set up in the [illegible] that the amount [illegible] taxes may be deducted from the sum found due the plaintiff for mesne profits.

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases such as Gonorrhea Gleet Stricture Syphilis in all its forms Seminal Weakness, Impotency etc Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents guardians friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from [illegible] places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness

Seminal Weakness the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms unless combatted by scientific medical measures viz Sallow countenance dark spots under the eyes pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots uneasiness about the loins weakness of the limbs confused vision limited intellect loss of confidence diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society loss of memory hectic flushes pimples and various eruptions about the face furred tongue fetid breath coughs consumption night sweats monomania and frequently insanity. If relief be not obtained should apply immediately either in person or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of his complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible and will give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing letters to Dr Gibbon stating case symptoms length of time the disease has continued and have medicines promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity to any part of the country with full and plain directions for use by [illegible] Ten Dollars sent in registered letter or through Wells Fargo & Co
